

Shastri Group of Institutes

October 2025 Magazine

KHANDE NAVAMI POOJAN

A simple and grounded celebration

A day to honour the efforts, and everyday work that keep us moving forward.

Staff gathered with an easy, calm energy. People stood together, joined the ritual in their own way, and let the stillness of the morning settle in. Nothing about the celebration was grand; it felt more like a gentle pause in the middle of routine a reminder of the work everyone quietly contributes, day after day.

Carrying the warmth

As the event wrapped up, the mood across the campus was relaxed. The feeling of tradition, shared space, and brief conversations felt everyone's heart with warmth.

On October 1, Shastri Group of Institutes observed a warm Khande Navami pooja. Everyone at SGI celebrated as a family and expressed gratitude for every member's daily work, respect for spaces, and acknowledge the efforts that keeps everything running quietly in the background of every department.

In keeping with tradition, a special pooja session was held on the auspicious day of Khande Navami. Both faculty and students engaged in the devotional environment, and after the ritual, there was a distributed prasada for all attendees.

“An evening of colour, rhythm, and the simple joy of moving in sync with everyone.”

Date: 1/10/25

SGI DANDIYA NIGHT

An Evening
of all
Warm Memories

Shastri Group of Institutes hosted a Dandiya Night for all, inviting both students and staff to unwind and enjoy a relaxed, colourful evening. It wasn't about putting on a big show just a chance for everyone to take break from their routines and celebrate together. The dancing flowed in its own natural way. People formed circles, broke them, made new ones, and simply moved however they felt comfortable. Some jumped right in, some hung back before joining, and some just watched with a smile but the music had a way of pulling everyone in eventually.

Towards the end as the night slowed down, the atmosphere felt lighter. Tired feet, bright clothes, and small shared smiles made it clear that the evening had done its job. It was a simple gathering, but it left everyone feeling a little more connected than when they walked in.

FRESHER'S PARTY (WCAT)2025

First step into meeting the people who are going to become part of each other's stories, memories, and lifelong friendships.

Ice Breaker

On October 4, a freshers' party was organised to welcome the new batch of students at Wingsss College of Aviation Technology. The idea behind the evening was to give everyone a space to relax, meet their new best friends, and start the year on a note that felt friendly and easy rather than overwhelming.

There were no expectations of being instantly social. Students found themselves slowly opening up, sharing small conversations, joining in light activities, or simply standing nearby until something or someone pulled them in. Some danced without hesitation, some took their time, and some stayed on the quieter side, but there was room for everyone. The night gently encouraged everyone to get to know the people they'll see, grow with, and collect memories with over the years.

A morning of simple songs, shared laughter, and small moments of togetherness.

Date: 10/10/25

SING ALONG EVENT

A Musical Break

On October 10, Prestige Public School (CBSE) organised a relaxed sing-along programme for its students. The session was organized to create a light space where children could unwind, hum along to familiar tunes, and enjoy music without any formality or pressure.

A Sense of Togetherness

The programme was just a moment where everyone could join in, sing softly or loudly, and simply enjoy the presence of friends and teachers around them. It served as a beautiful reminder of how music naturally brings people closer.

Ending on a Warm Note

The morning wrapped up with smiling faces and a comfort in the air. It was a simple event, but one that left students refreshed, connected, and carrying the rhythm with them into the rest of their day.

Bartending Session (Student Experience)

Date: 13/10/25

An easy, practical afternoon that helped students understand service from the inside out.

A practical training session: Mocktails, Basics of Service, and Simple Bar Tricks

On October 13, a bartending training session was held for the students of Wingsss Aviation and Hospitality. The session was organized to help students understand how to serve, how to handle a bar setup, and how to approach a guest with confidence. The flow of training stayed simple and grounded, focusing on real skills rather than heavy theory.

Students learned how to make mocktails step by step, picking up small details about flavour balance, presentation, and workflow. Students were also introduced to the basics of giving service at a bar: how to carry themselves, how to interact with guests, and how to stay attentive without overthinking it.

Easy, Real, and Useful Afternoon

Nothing about the training felt forced or overly formal. Students learned through experimenting at their own pace. By the end, they walked away with a clearer sense of what bar service looks like in real life and a little more confidence in handling the basics.

SINCE 2001

DIWALI CELEBRATION

A simple, cheerful morning that brought everyone together in the soft glow of the season.

A Festive Day

On October 17, the Diwali celebration at Shastri Group of Institutes carried a warm, relaxed energy. Everyone came dressed for the occasion, bringing in their own bit of colour and festive mood. The day was just about sharing the spirit of Diwali in small, genuine ways.

Students and staff joined in to draw rangoli at different spots, adding patterns and colours as they pleased. Offices were decorated with marigold flowers, filling the spaces with that sweet, familiar scent. Everyone contributed in their own little way, making the place feel alive naturally.

A Celebration Close to Everyone's Heart

As the day progressed, with soft, easy smiles, light, greetings, and the comfort of each other's company. It was a simple and candid celebration, but it carried the warmth that will linger in everyone's memory a little longer.

